

Four join board of area community foundation

The Martinsville Area Community Foundation's board of directors has elected four new members.

They are James W. Haskins, F. Dewitt House, Eugene C. Madonia and Elizabeth R. Sibbick.

Haskins is an attorney at the law firm of Young, Haskins, Mann, Gregory, McGarry & Wall, P.C. He has Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Law degrees from the University of Virginia. He lives in Martinsville with his wife, Betsy.

He also serves on Carter

Bank & Trust's board of directors and Chatmoss Country Club's board of governors.

House is the assistant superintendent of Henry County Public Schools. He has a bachelor's degree from Lincoln Memorial University and a master's degree from Radford University. He also has completed additional graduate work at the University of Virginia.

Haskins

He lives in Martinsville with his wife, Terrilan, and his son, Evan.

He serves on the board of

House

Henry County Parks & Recreation and the YMCA.

Madonia is a neurologist at Martinsville Neurological Associates Inc. He graduated from Georgetown University and the Georgetown University Medical School. He lives in Martinsville.

Madonia

Madonia is a board member for MARC Workshop and Theater Works Community Players. He also is on the Community Advisory Board of the Comprehensive Cancer Center of Wake Forest University.

Sibbick is a community volunteer. She has a bachelor's degree in psychology and a teaching certificate in learning disabilities from Salem College.

She lives in Martinsville with her husband, Bill.

She is on the board of the

Sibbick

Adult Day Care Center in Martinsville and is a volunteer with Grace Network.

The Martinsville Area Community Foundation's board decides how to best apply grant funds to address a range of community needs.